1. Claims 1-9 are objected to because of the following informalities: regarding claim 1, the term "such as" and the use of phrases in parenthesis, specifically "(including "contact" and "contact-less" devices)" can be taken as indefinite; regarding claims 2&6: the use of the trademark/tradenames IBM, Microsoft, Windows, Macintosh, Mac, EZ Net and SmartKids Homework Links are indefinite and should be removed from the claims. Appropriate correction is required.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeFabio 6,250,549 in view of Collins 6,061,681.

DeFabio disclose a system in which a memorabilia kit is sold. It is disclosed that the memorabilia kit includes a captured image and a signature of the person imaged (col 3 lines 1-10). It is disclosed that there is appropriate data related to the "signing" event stored in a memory to be provided to the purchaser, including time when the signing took place and any particular "affiliation" of the signator (col 4 lines 51-67). DeFabio does not disclose the networked search engine. Collins discloses a method and appropriate apparatus for accessing photographs of individuals through use of a personal computer, i.e. IC technology, including a display over a network connected to at least one local server and a second local server (fig A1), which contains information requested at the personal computer in a database on the local server. The user of the system inputs information to search for preferred results. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the search engine of Collins to find signing events as in DeFabio. This would allow a user of the combined system to rapidly locate a desired signator.
